

To whom it may concern

8-7-18

I am writing with deep concern about the care and management of the South East region of NSW, in particular the area surrounding Corrunna lake near Narooma NSW 2546.

We can not keep taking from the earth without some major side effects. Apart from the effects it has on the local ~~eco~~ flora and fauna there is a big big risk of erosion.

I have lived and worked all over the world, have you heard what the Canadian's do? If not please let me inform you. It is law and written into forestry agreements that ~~if~~ for every tree taken out from the company must be replaced, The company that is clearing must hire a "tree planting" team comes in after the clearing and plants tree seedlings to replenish what has been taken. Apart from replacing what has been taken it also puts people in work.

I hope someone has taken the time to read this and has a very long think about the implications of these actions.

I wonder if anyone has even considered the significance to ~~the~~ the local indigenous community, the mountain back drop is a sacred place and for it to be cleared will desterb the spirits that protect guluga (mt Prom)

Please rethink your actions.

Kind regards

Tym McLaughlin
